

The National Association of Broadcasters needs to get a life! As a subscriber to XM Radio for over a year now, in that timeframe I can honestly say I have probably listened to only about 4 hours of terrestrial radio broadcasts, versus 9 hours a day of satellite radio broadcasts. Local radio stations are just so incredibly bad. If XM and Sirius have raised the bar, either improve your broadcasts or quit your incessant whining. There is nothing wrong with localized programming VIA satellite radio. What you are against, NAB is competition. There are many, many much more important things to be focusing on in this county nowadays then the rantings of an antiquated lobbying group.
